

6TH HUMAN CAPITAL INDEX

Finland is the sixth-best performing country in the world in human capital potential, according to The World Bank Human Capital Index. The index measures the human capital that a child born today can expect to attain by their 18th birthday, given the risks of poor health and poor education in the country where they live.

Source: The World Bank 2020

